EMBODIED FORMS: NON-ROYAL STATUARY IN THE LATE PERIOD

A Study Day with Dr Campbell Price (University of Manchester)

Saturday 26 June 2021, 10:00 – 17:30

This study day will be held online via the video communication platform Zoom.

Dr Campbell Price is Curator of Egypt and Sudan at the Manchester Museum. His research focusses on elite monuments of the First Millennium BCE, particularly on sculpture. His publications include: Golden Mummies of Egypt: Interpreting identities from the Graeco-Roman Period (2020); and Perfected Forms: Non-royal temple sculpture in the Egyptian Late Period (forthcoming). Campbell is Vice-Chair of Trustees of the Egypt Exploration Society.

Join us for a day of lectures with Campbell on temple statuary, the chief medium for elite self-presentation in the Late Period (c.750–30 BCE). Dedication of such monuments at the vast complex of Karnak was a privilege of the priestly elite. This study day explores the forms and inscriptions of some of these statues. These give an important insight into conceptions of divinity, materiality, and expectations of how the statues were conceived to function for eternity in temples frequented by gods, the living, and the dead. In addition to hearing four engaging lectures, you will have plenty of opportunity to ask questions, and to socialise with the speaker during an online drinks reception.

Campbell will be delivering four lectures:

1. Dedicating a Temple Statue; 2. Existing in the Shade of Karnak;
3. Archaism and Innovation: Attitudes to the past; 4. Being Among the Praised Ones: Reciprocal actions
